World Hand Hygiene Day, Flu Vaccines In Stock, MBS Quick-reference Guide, EOFY Deals, and more!

Welcome to the second edition of Focus for 2026.

As we move into a busy and important time of year for healthcare providers, this edition highlights key dates, resources, and opportunities to support your practice and patients.

With World Hand Hygiene Day on May 5th, we've included a dedicated feature packed with practical tips and resources to help strengthen your clinic's hand hygiene protocols. Shortly after, we celebrate International Nurses Day on May 12th. This is an opportunity to recognise the incredible contribution nurses make every day across our healthcare system.

As we enter Q2, we also approach the peak of flu season. The Queensland Free Flu Vaccination Program is now underway, running from March 1st through to September 30th. With vaccines in stock and ready to ship, now is the time to ensure your clinic is fully prepared.

Be sure to explore this edition's centrefold pullout, where you'll find a convenient quick-reference guide to MBS rebate item numbers. We have designed it to make day-to-day processes that little bit easier, and to help you maximise benefits from your care.

We're also pleased to offer a range of EOFY deals featured in our accompanying brochure. Many of these offers are available only while stocks last, so we encourage you to take advantage while they're available.

Finally, with the Easter holidays approaching, we wish you and your team a safe, restful, and enjoyable break.

Thank you for being part of our community, and we hope you enjoy this edition of Focus.

Our Nurses. Our Future. Empowered Nurses Save Lives

Every day, nurses make an extraordinary difference by saving lives, improving wellbeing and strengthening the quality of care. Their impact is greatest when they have the support, resources and recognition they need. In a time of significant global pressure on health systems, this year's IND theme highlights the importance of creating long-term structural improvements that enable nurses to thrive.

Building on previous IND discussions around the value of care and the importance of supporting the nursing workforce, this year's focus reinforces how essential nurses are in achieving better health outcomes. It also celebrates their central role in delivering trusted, person centred primary care that can transform health systems and help address some of the most urgent health challenges facing communities around the world.

5 May is World Hand Hygiene Day

Each year the SAVE LIVES: Clean Your Hands campaign aims to progress the goal of maintaining a global profile on the importance of hand hygiene in health care and to 'bring people together' in support of hand hygiene improvement globally.

WHO calls on everyone to be inspired by the global movement to achieve universal health coverage (UHC).

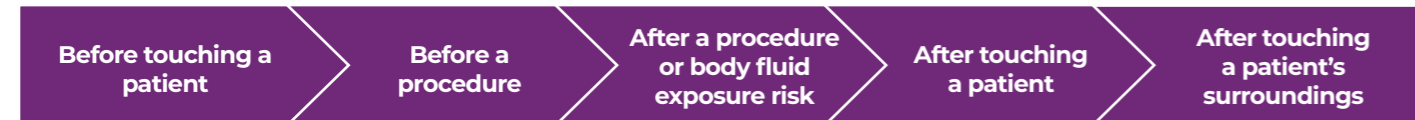

Infection Prevention and Control, including hand hygiene, is critical to achieve UHC as it is a practical and evidence-based approach with demonstrated impact on quality of care and patient safety across all levels of the health system.

SAVE LIVES: Clean Your Hands incorporates a global annual day to focus on the importance of improving hand hygiene in health care with WHO providing support for these efforts. WHO have created a suite of hand hygiene improvement tools including: 5 Moments of Hand Hygiene, How to Handrub, and How to Handwash. The tools aim to help the translation into practice of a multimodal strategy for improving and sustaining hand hygiene in health care.

SSS Australia are your partners in hand hygiene! A wide range of products are available to meet all of your clinic's hand hygiene requirements. View these products and links to WHO's resources below!

WASHER DISINFECTORS

RACGP Accreditation Reprocessing Guidelines

The updated IPC Guidelines clarify options for managing the reprocessing area, including dedicated vs shared spaces (and segregation), so that practices apply a risk assessment to their own context.

Practices need to:

- Have a designated area for reprocessing reusable medical devices that is physically separated from treatment and administration areas
- Establish a workflow pattern that prevents contamination of clean (pre-sterile and sterile) areas.

Ideally, the practice has a dedicated room for reprocessing. Shared spaces are acceptable provided physical methods or barriers are used to separate reprocessing activities. For example, locating patient care areas away from the sterilising area, or not processing equipment when patients are present. The methods used should be documented in the practice's risk register, along with identified mitigants.

Mandatory washer-disinfector use

The IPC Guidelines require the use of a washer-disinfector for cleaning reusable medical devices. The use of automatic washer-disinfectors to clean reusable medical devices before sterilising represents best practice and aligns with the Australian Standard AS5369.

Depending on the risk categorisation of the reusable medical device, the cleaning method can involve:

- The use of an ultrasonic cleaner followed by automated cleaning using a washer-disinfector
- The use of a washer-disinfector that may incorporate an ultrasonic cycle
- Manual cleaning, with subsequent use of the above.

Manual cleaning alone is not acceptable unless the device's instructions for use specifically prohibit automated cleaning.

The IPC Guidelines also clarify that soaking devices is not acceptable.
